letters to the editor

Interesting and Pertinent

To the Editor:

Another member of the Office of Education staff has called to my attention an article in your May-June issue, Business Tackles the Ghetto.

I found this article most interesting and pertinent. We in the Office are actively searching for ways to bring industry and education together in a meaningful way on behalf of children.

Leon M. Lessinger
 Associate Commissioner for Elementary and Secondary Education

To the Editor:

Your article Business Tackles the Ghetto in the May-June issue made excellent reading.

I hope you continue to print such factual and current reports.

Kim Sutherland
 Oakland, California

To the Editor:

I thoroughly enjoyed the article in the May-June issue on business involvement in ghetto areas. The purpose of my flight was to serve as a psychological consultant to United Progress Incorporated, Trenton, New Jersey's antipoverty agency.

Please forward ten copies of the magazine to UPI executives in Trenton.

Drunken Grammar

To the Editor:

Please try to do a better job of proof-reading on The American Way. On page 7 of the May-June was this delightful grammatical gem: "He has never dranked or smoked in his life." It has been a long time since I have readed such a good story!

Patricia Walker
 Detroit, Michigan

(Editor's Note: Michael Korda, the author of our May-June article on clean-living Minnesota Fats, admits that his "dranked" was grammatically incorrect, but says that he wrote it down soberly and deliberately since it clearly implied alcohol to him. The proper word "drunk," he says, implied all liquids, of which even the incomparable Fats must now and then partake. Since Korda is editor-in-chief of Simon & Schuster, we permitted him a few liberties.)
